

SWITCH

Gary St. Martin - gary@conventionvideo.com - 619 253-2007

LOGLINE

After an earthquake destroys the landmark El Cortez Building in San Diego, a reporter unwittingly switches places and time periods with the designer of the El Cortez. Using the present and the past, they investigate the cause of the building's collapse.

SYNOPSIS

An earthquake triggers an extraordinary event causing Jacob Lent, a present-day reporter, and Albert R. Walker, a 1920s architect, to swap souls.

The duo embarks on a riveting journey through time. They navigate the challenges of altered identities, a cryptic Time Traveler, and the urgent quest to uncover the truth behind a historic building collapse.

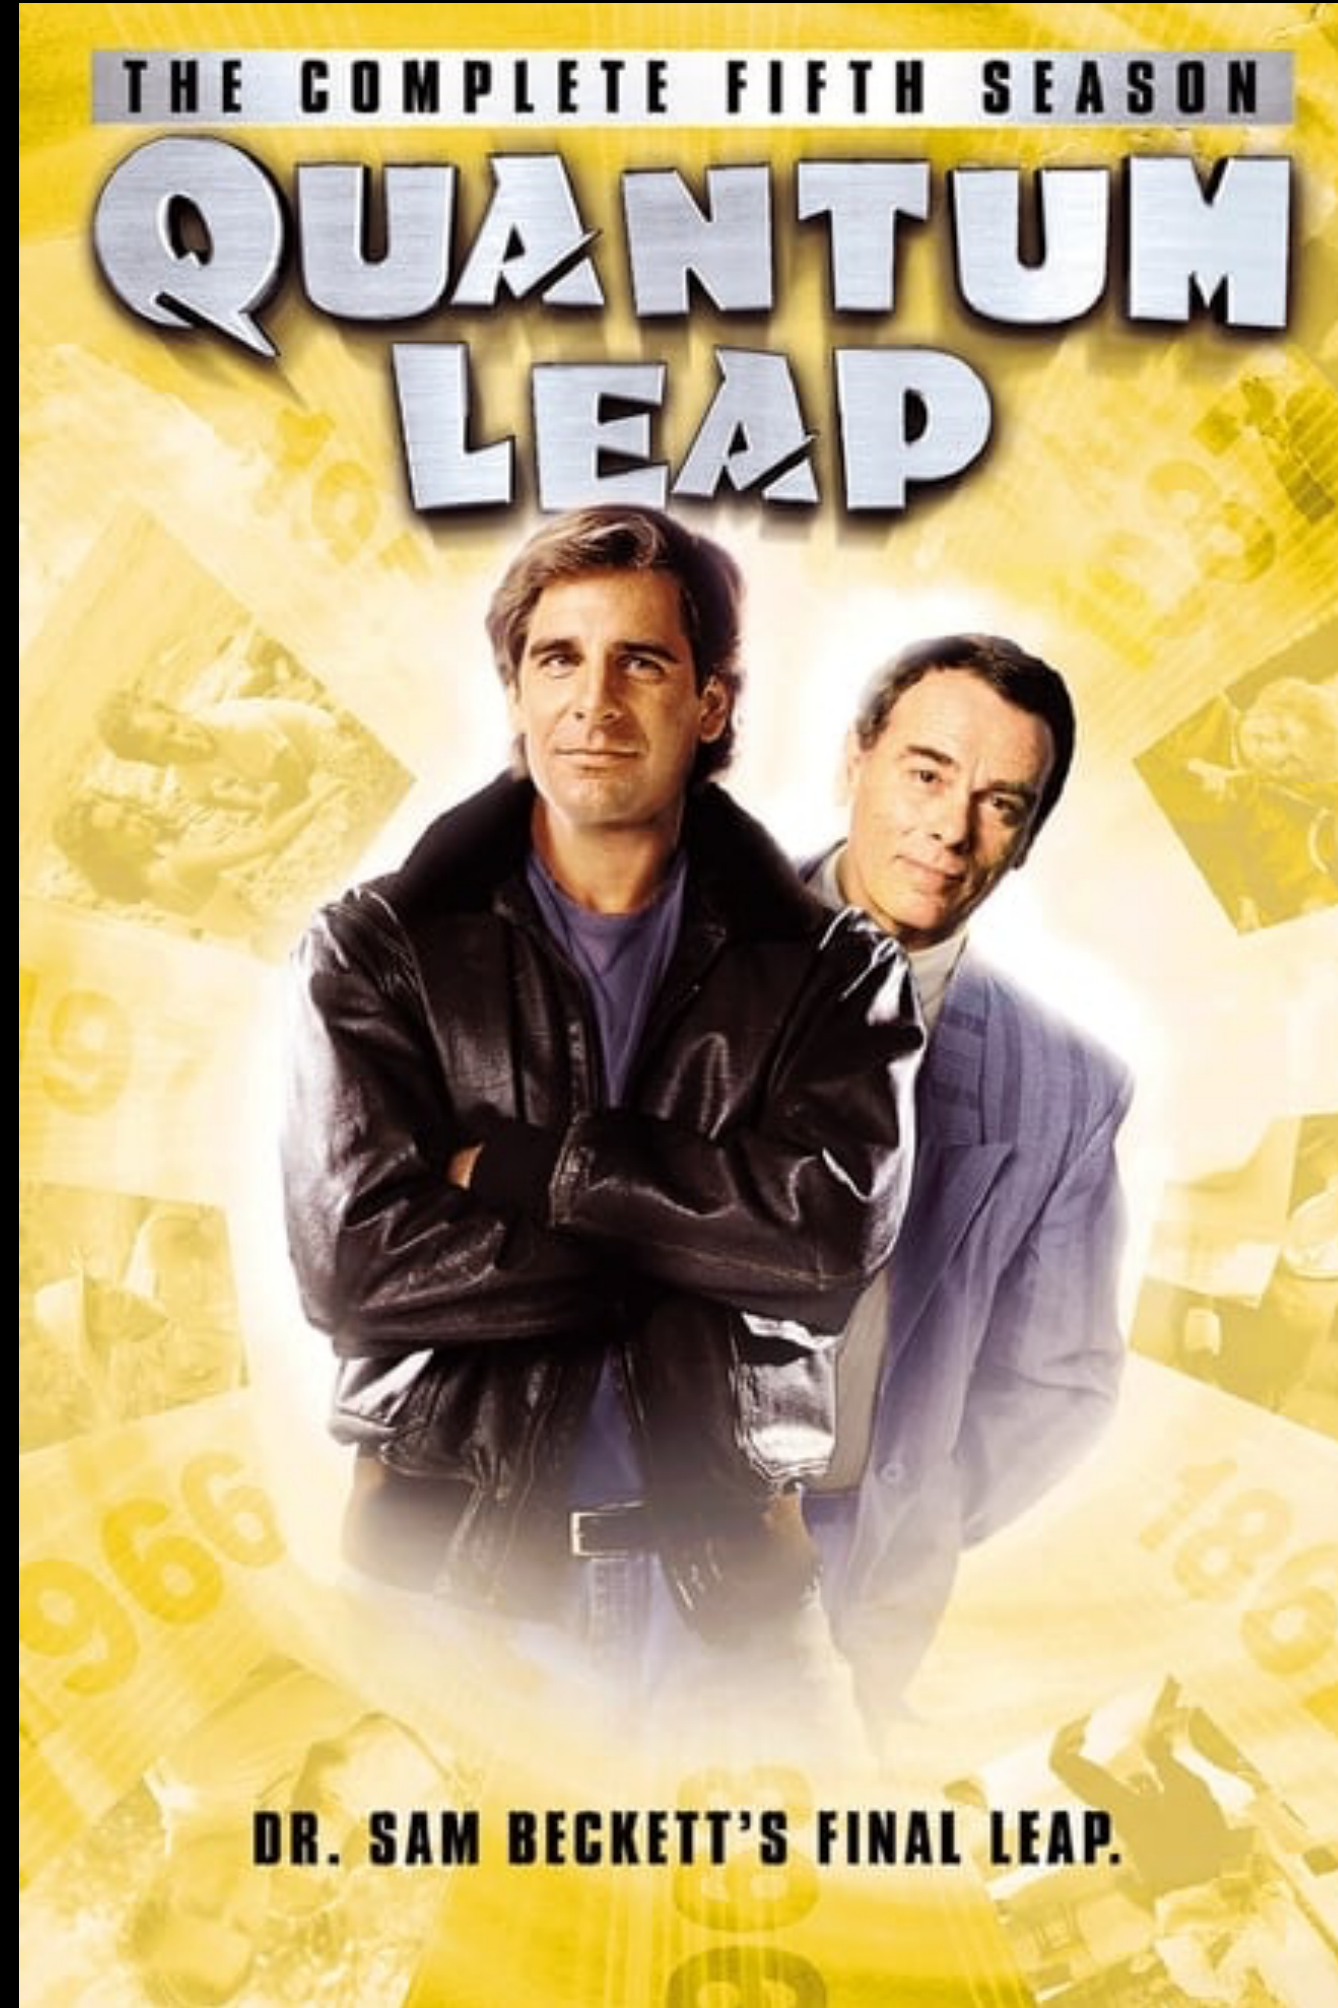

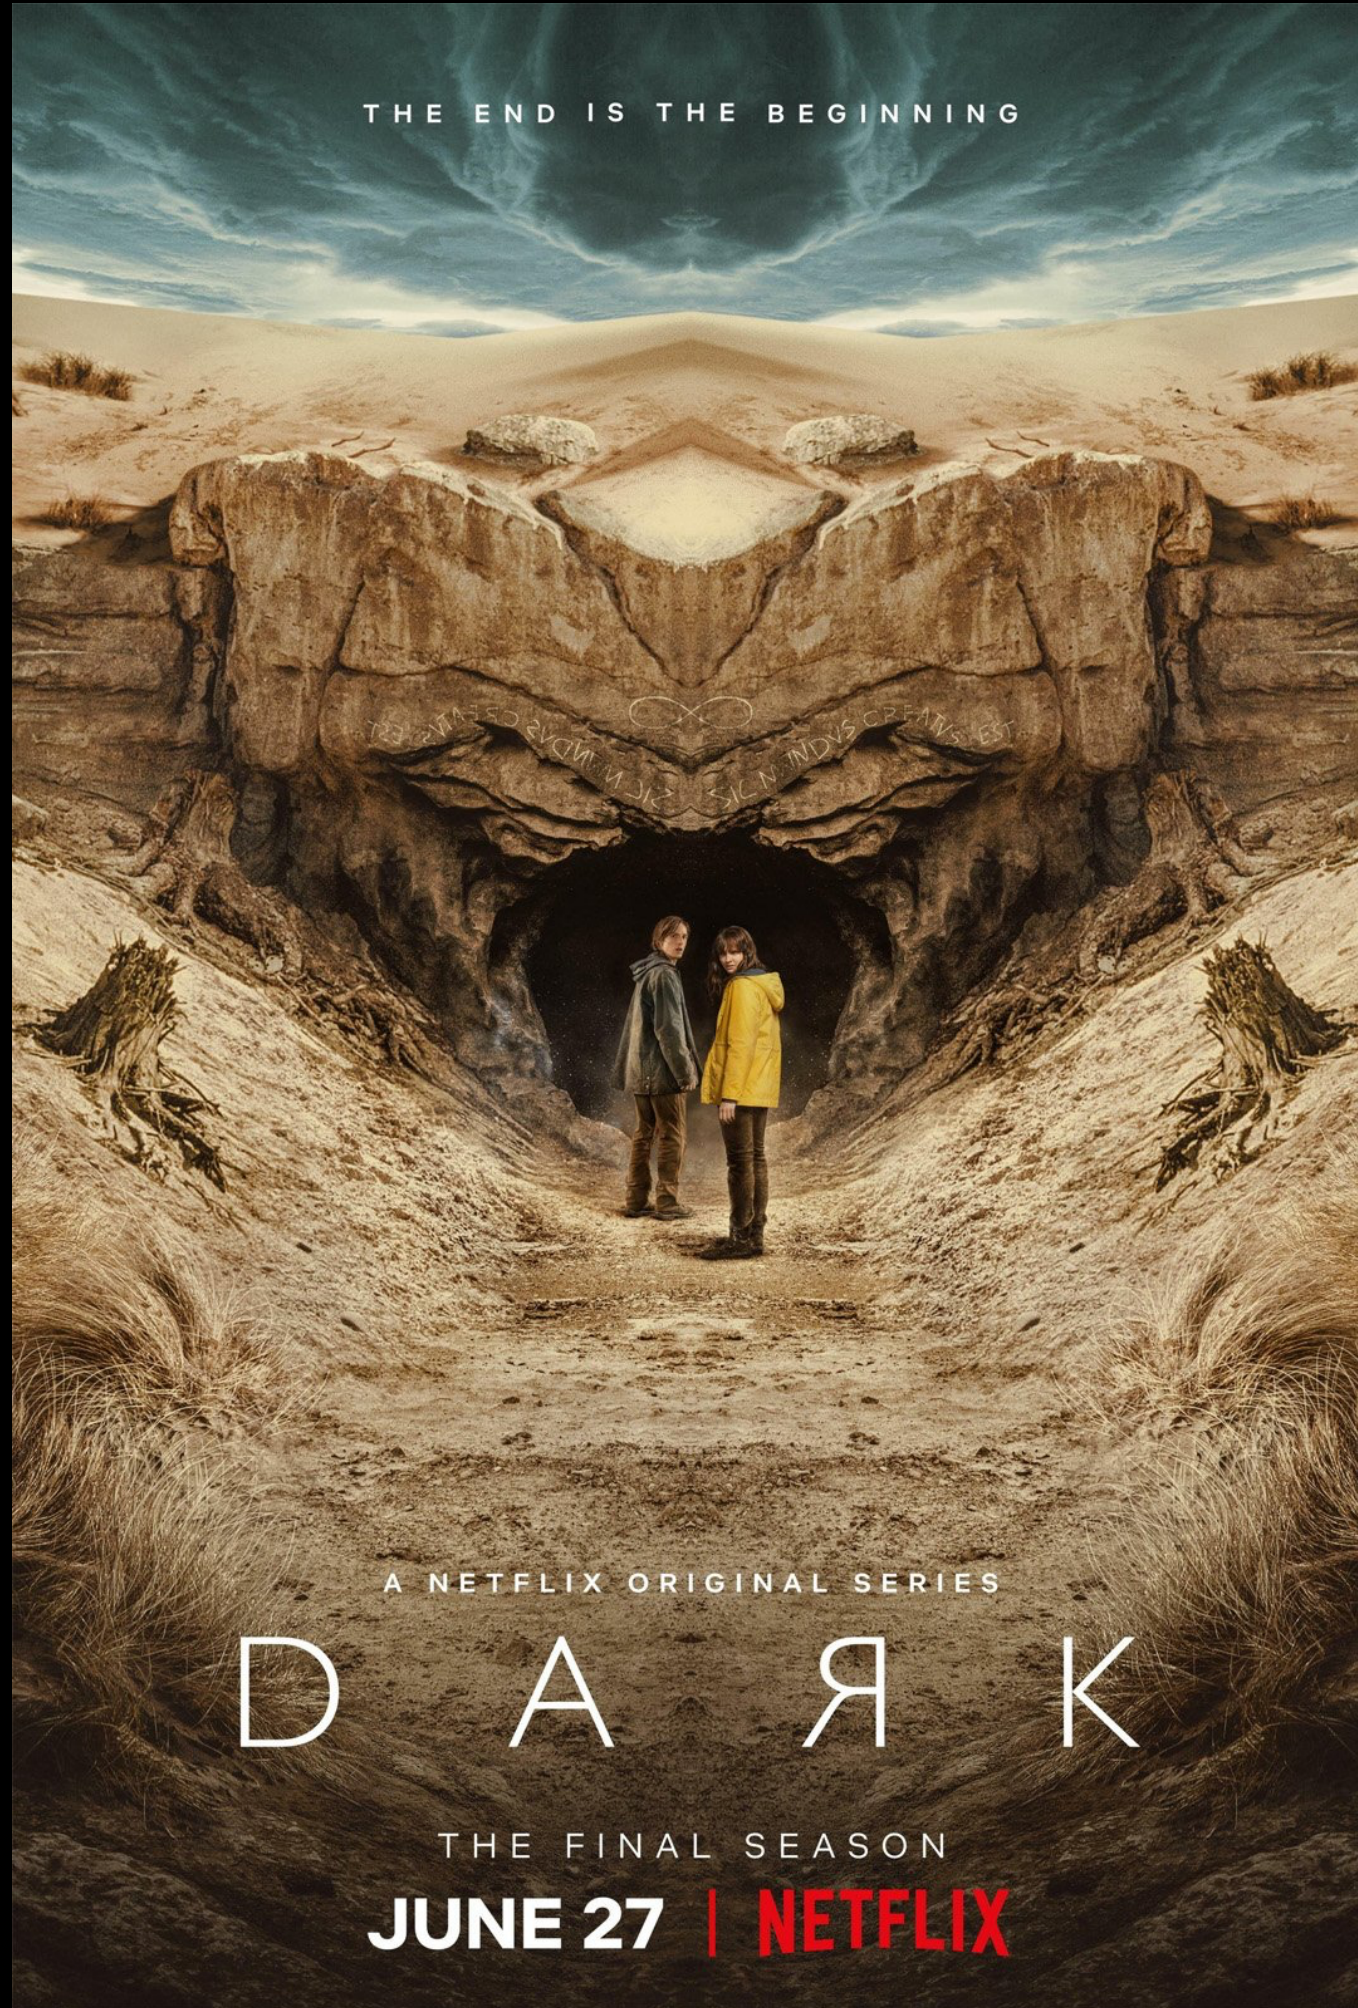

As they peel back the layers of a complex mystery, they discover that reshaping the past comes with unforeseen consequences, blending science fiction with the intricate threads of personal and historical drama.

"Switch" is a gripping exploration of time travel, identity, and the relentless pursuit of answers in a world where the past and present collide.

The El Cortez Hotel
San Diego

SHOW CROSS

Jacob Lent

Main Character

Modern-day Reporter

Jacob Lent, 26, lead CNN field reporter.
Ambitious, driven and smart.
Good at his job. Nothing else matters.

Switches places with Albert R. Walker.

Albert R. Walker

Main Character
1920s Architect

Albert R. Walker, 46, lead architect and designer of the El Cortez Hotel.

Matter-of-fact, dry, no sense of humor.
Married with a teenaged daughter.

Switches places with Jacob Lent.

Percy A. Eisen

Main Character

Albert's architectural partner

Percy A. Eisen, 42, architect and Walker's partner in the design of the El Cortez hotel.

Light and easy-going disposition, relaxed. Competent worker and foil to Walker.

Alice Gardner

Recurring Character

Reporter/Anchor and Jacob's Girlfriend

Alice Gardner, 25, CNN reporter and anchor. Jacob Lent's girlfriend. Loyal, supportive, proactive, intelligent, caring, curious.

The Time Traveller

Main Character

Identity Unknown

This character's identity is a mystery, but they aid Jacob and Albert in uncovering that the collapse of the historic Cortez Building was not supposed to happen.

PILOT

In the pilot episode of "Switch," an earthquake triggers an extraordinary event that causes Jacob Lent, a modern-day reporter, and Albert R. Walker, a 1920s architect, to inexplicably swap souls. In the midst of adjusting to their new identities and present realities, they uncover a mysterious Time Traveler who reveals that the collapse of the historic Cortez Building was not supposed to happen. He then tasks them with the challenge to find out why and how.

They are given the ability to communicate with each other via handwritten notes passed along a metal filing cabinet located at the heart of the El Cortez. They embark on a riveting journey to unravel the secrets behind the disaster, encountering unforeseen consequences and a race against time itself. "Switch" explores the intricacies of time travel, the clash of past and present, and the pursuit of truth in a gripping sci-fi drama.

EPIISODE CONCEPTS

EPIISODE 1: “The El Cortez”

Albert R. Walker, 1920s San Diego

EPIISODE 2: “The Golden Gate”

Joseph Strauss, 1937 San Francisco

EPIISODE 3: “Winchester House”

Sarah Winchester, 1884-1906 San Jose

EPIISODE 4: “San Juan Capistrano”

Father Jose Barona, 1811 Orange County

EPIISODE 5: “Henry Miller Library”

Emil White, 1960s Big Sur

EPIISODE 6: “Alcatraz”

Barney Coy, 1946 Alcatraz Island

EPIISODE 7: “1894 World Fair”

Makoto Hagiwara, 1894 San Francisco

EPIISODE 8: “Hearst Castle”

Julia Morgan, 1919 San Simeon

FUTURE SEASONS

SEASON 1: "California"

Exploring famous architectural structures in California

SEASON 2: "Continental U.S."

Expanding across the continental U.S., we will adventure through different cities, states, and times.

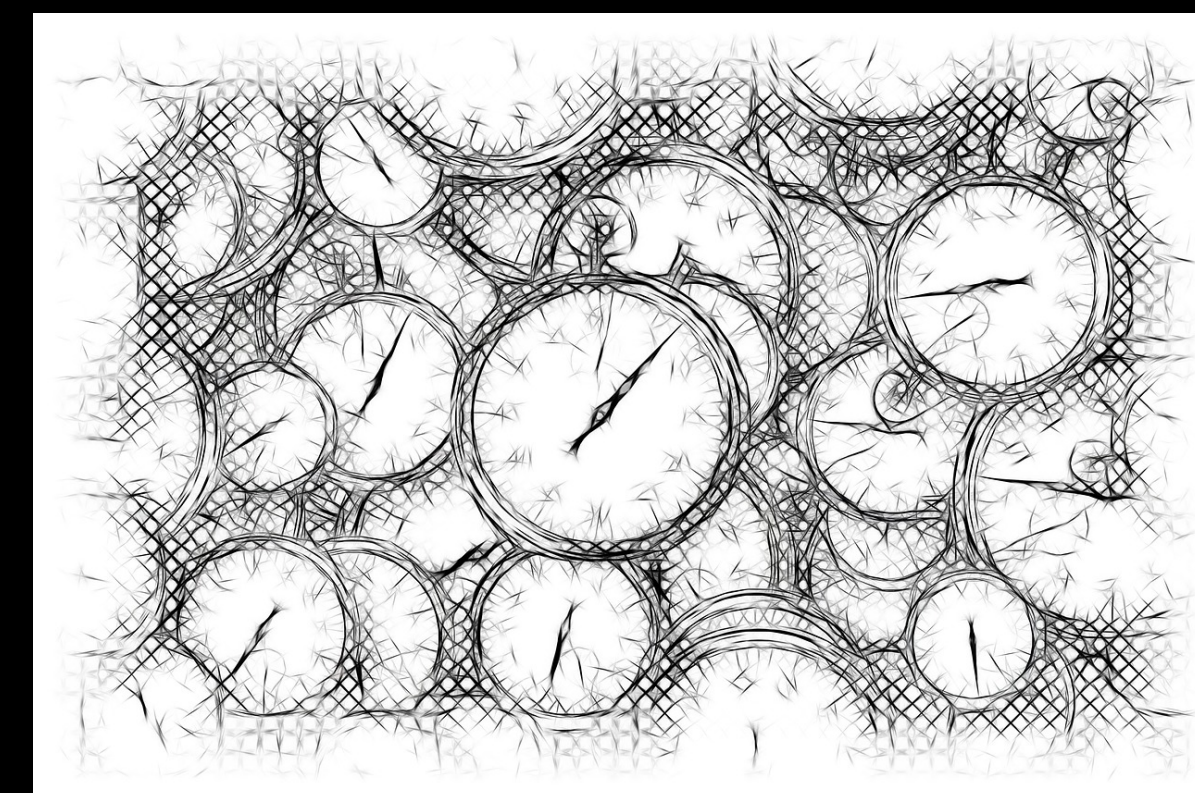

SEASON 3: "The U.K."

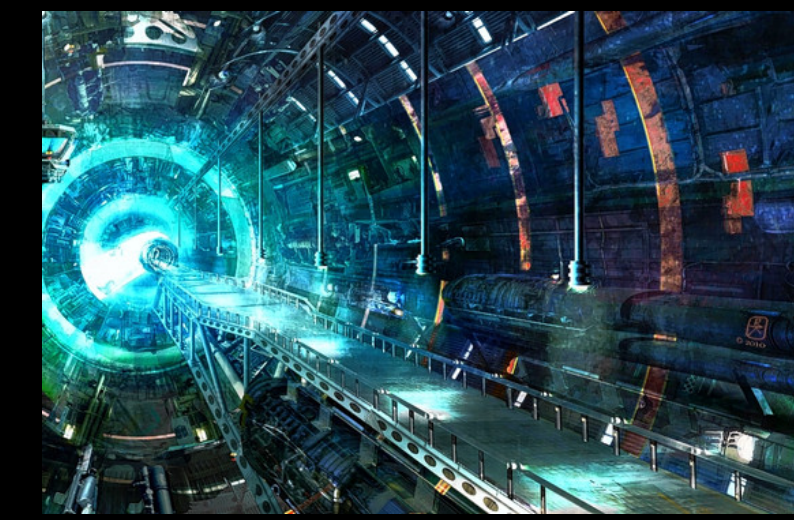

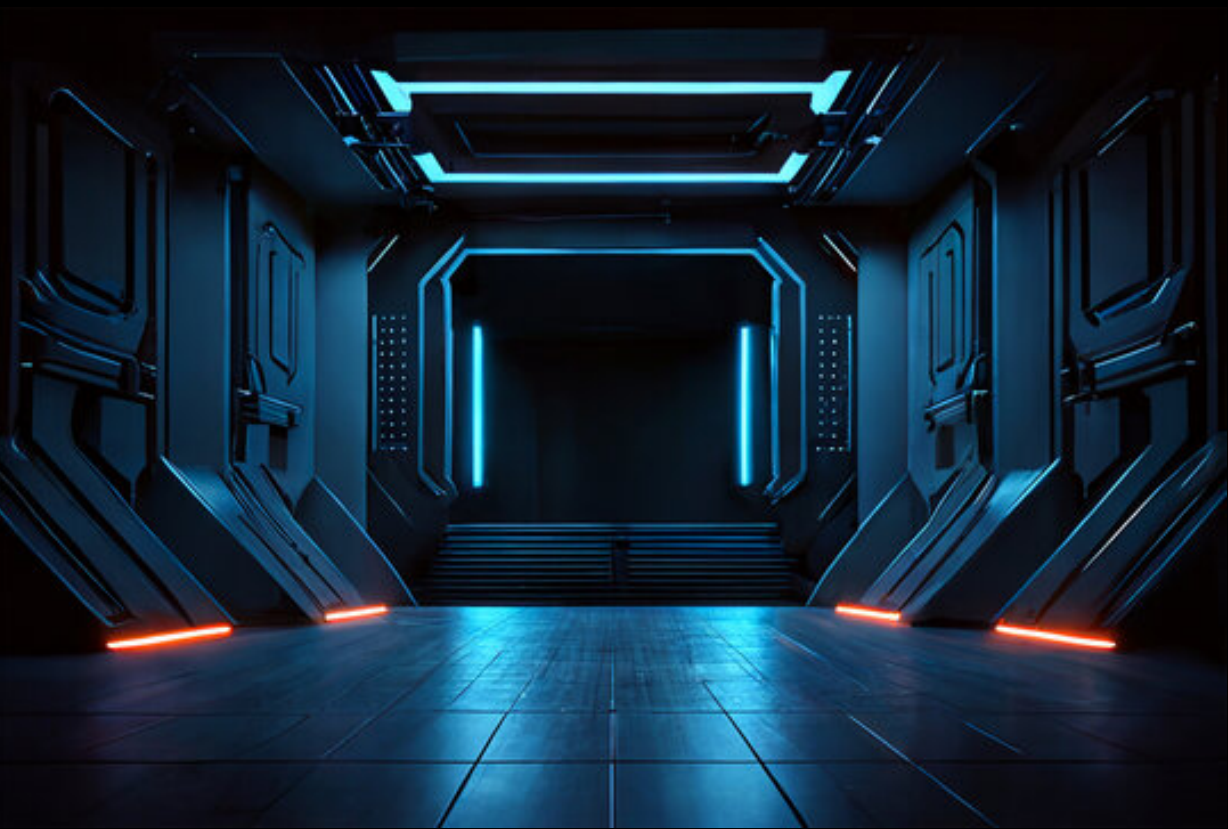

This season will take us to the United Kingdom, switching between different important structures in England.

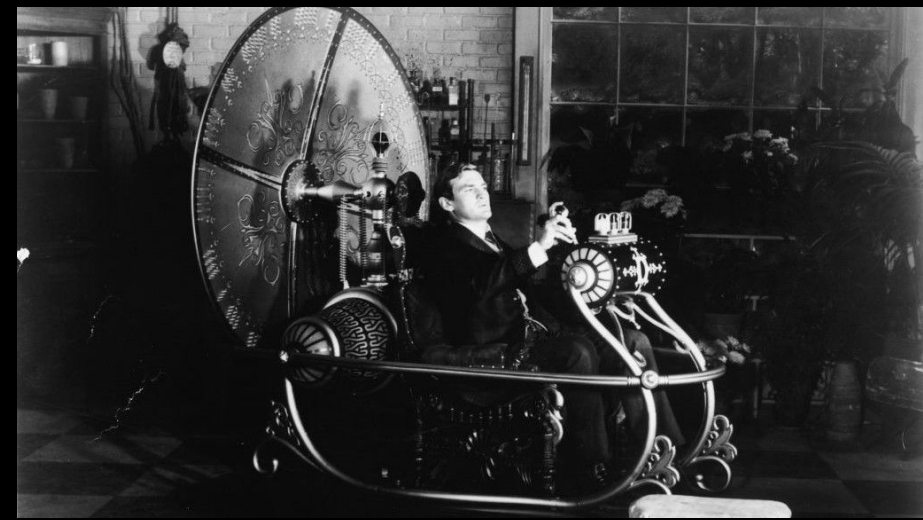

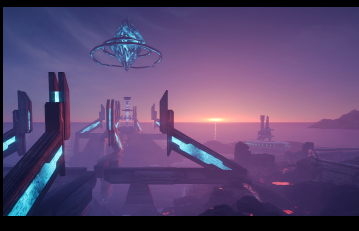

tone

"Switch" maintains a tone that seamlessly blends elements of mystery and adventure. The narrative unfolds with a sense of intrigue, keeping viewers captivated as Jacob and Albert navigate through the complexities of time travel and unravel mysteries surrounding iconic structures. The series weaves together suspenseful moments, unexpected twists, and exploration, creating an immersive experience that balances suspense with a touch of wonder.

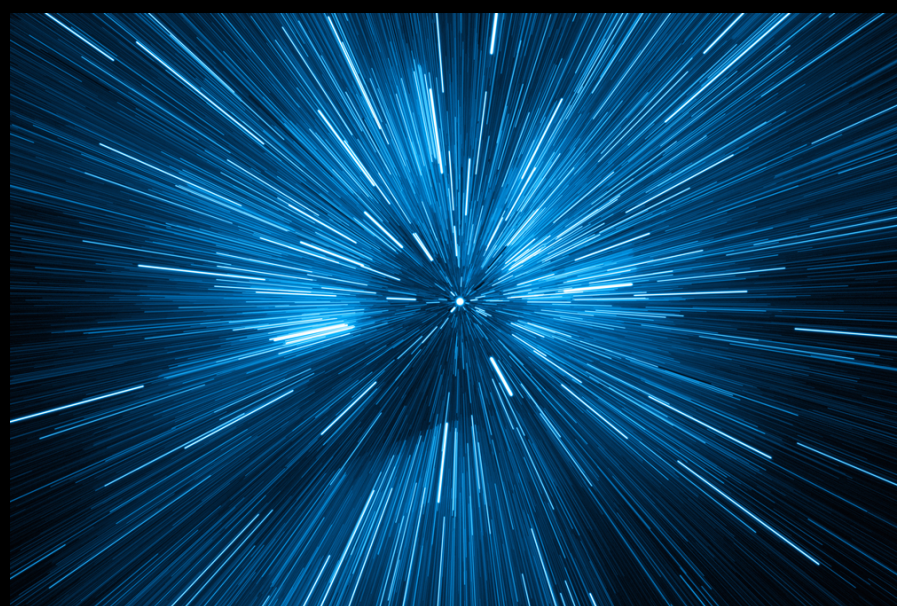

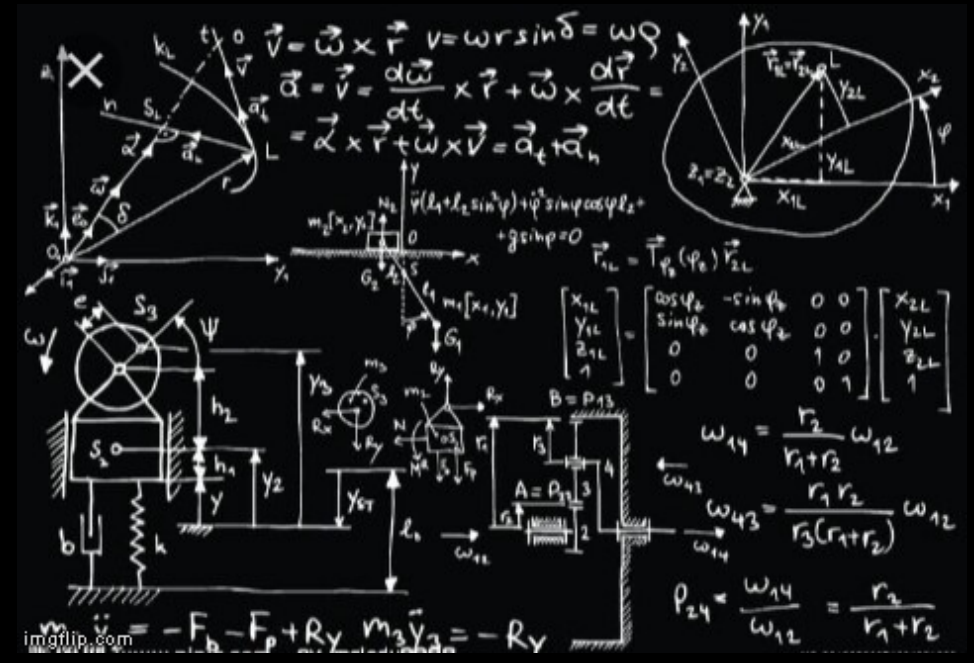

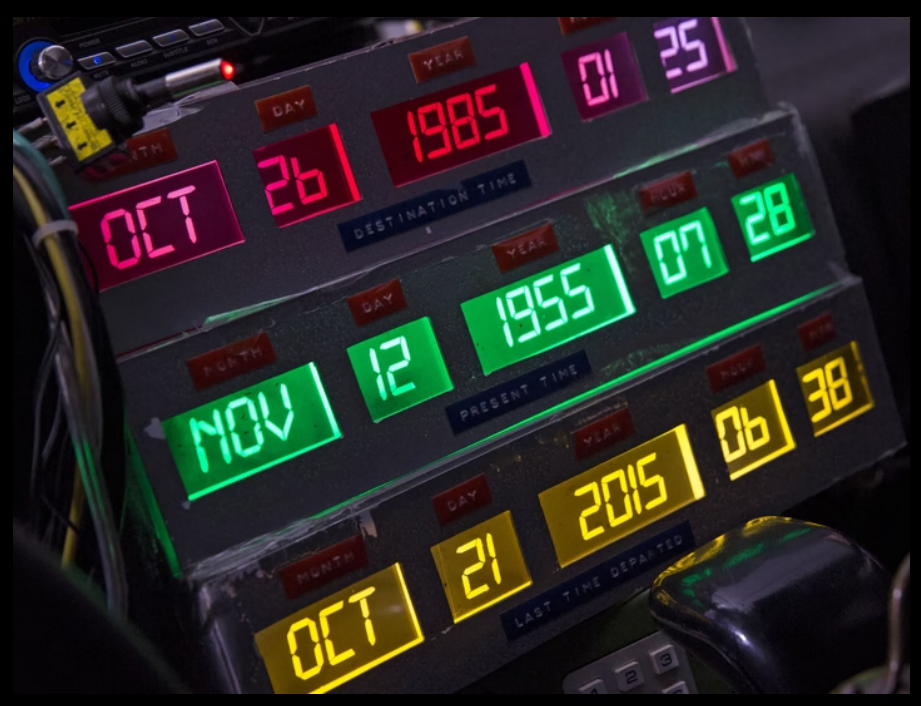

Apple Teleport
$29M

Apple Ship
$1B

SCIFI